

TDS Successfully Monitoring Student Attendance at the University of Hertfordshire

The University of Hertfordshire is located in Hatfield just north of London. The single campus University consists of two main sites, de Havilland and College Lane. The third smaller site in St. Albans city centre is located 8km away. The University of Hertfordshire is the UK's leading business-facing university with a student community of 23,000, including more than 2,000 international students from over 85 countries; the university has a global network of over 160,000 alumni.

The CoreSA (Student Attendance) module has been designed in conjunction with educational organisations to provide an all encompassing, legislatively compliant and customisable method of monitoring student attendance requirements.

The University is required to produce a number of external reports to the Government, UK Border Agency and the NHS in order for students to be approved for student loans and visas. TDS' CoreSA (Student Attendance) solution significantly reduces the administration duties, producing these reports automatically.

The CoreSA solution fully interfaces with the University's existing Student System, which populates the required student data to the Student Attendance System automatically.

The automatic SMS text and e-mail functionality notifies students once their attendance drops below the specified threshold.
